JUDITH VOGELSANG

Judith Vogelsang is a filmmaker with over 20 years experience in film and television production, working in both fiction and nonfiction. She produced and directed the independent feature film, HEARTLESS, a psychological thriller starring Madchen Amick and Louise Fletcher (USA Network, worldwide distribution).

Judith received a 2007 DGA nomination for outstanding direction in a children's program for GOINGGREEN: Every Home an Eco-Home. GOINGGREEN, is a half-hour, family program that mixes humor with everyday examples of ways to make your home more environmentally friendly. GG aired on PBS stations and is available on DVD from amazon.com, Green Planet Films and many educational distributors. The program streams on www.Vidutopia.com. More info at www.goinggreenproductions.com).

SUV TAGGERS aired on The Documentary Channel and in the PBS series, Natural Heroes. The short doc about two amusing enviro activists was a festival favorite and is available on DVD from National Film Network (www.nationalfilmnetwork.com) and for broadcast and digital venues from Shorts International (www.shortsinternational.com). It's available for streaming on www.Vidutopia.com.

HUMBLE BEAUTY: Skid Row Artists is an hour documentary about talented homeless and formerly homeless artists in the poorest area of L.A. known as Skid Row. It airs nationwide on public television stations through January 2016, distributed by American Public Television. More info at www.humblebeauty.com.

Judith's prior directing credits include primetime network, dramatic, episodic television series and non-fiction specials for CBS, ABC, PBS, USA, Court TV and syndication. Judith worked as a staff director and producer of documentary, children's, news, and fiction programming for CBS and PBS affiliates in the midwest and on the east coast. She won a CINE Golden Eagle Award for the hour documentary, BUCKS COUNTY, USA.

Judith formed Stone Harbor Films, Inc., to develop and produce quality fiction and non-fiction projects for features, television and new media. Judith was an Emmy judge and continues as a judge for the annual DGA Student Film Awards. In 2005 she served as a panelist on the Mississippi Arts Commission's annual literary arts awards. Judith is a member of the Directors Guild of America, Academy of TV Arts & Sciences and Cinewomen Documentary Group. She lives in Los Angeles with her husband, poet and writer Arthur Vogelsang.
